TRIP OVERVIEW

A Death Valley and Joshua Tree National Park hiking tour is the perfect antidote to the winter blahs and one of the best warm winter vacations in the United States! In March the skies are clear and sunny (but not too hot!) and the hiking is excellent. In addition to unique ecology and engaging human history, there is fascinating geology that our guides will help us understand. We'll visit Rhyolite Ghost Town with its deserted ruins; see deserted mines; a salt water river in the desert; a desert oasis home to the famous pup fish, hike at the lowest point in the whole US; along the rim of a volcano and through surreal geologic formations. If you long to put away your down jacket and put on your shorts, feel warm sun on your deprived skin, and be totally immersed in a place that has a mystic status for many of us. By the end of the trip you'll have higher Vitamin D levels and a whole new appreciation of this unique landscape. Maximum group size: 12

OUR ITINERARY

Below is the itinerary we have planned for the trip. As is true on any adventure travel trip, plans for any specific day may be modified due to weather considerations, unforeseen circumstances, new opportunities, and group interests.

DAY 1 – March 5

March is typically excellent hiking, with temperatures in the high 70s. The following itinerary may be adjusted because of weather, availability of ranger talks, group wishes, etc. Our trip starts today in Las Vegas. Arrive any time before 5 pm. Catch a convenient shuttle (not a hotel shuttle), cab or Uber to our hotel, where we will meet at 5:30 pm. We'll start getting to know each other and review our plans for the trip, before sharing our first dinner. The evening is free for you to get to bed early or wander the strip. (D)

DAY 2 – March 6

Today we will make our way to Death Valley National Park, a drive that takes about 2.5 hours. Death Valley and Joshua Tree are all about water the overabundance and lack thereof! Our first stop will be Ash Meadows National Wildlife Refuge, the largest oasis in the Mojave Desert. A biodiversity hot spot and home to 30 endemic species include the famous pup fish. After our picnic lunch we will continue to Rhyolite Ghost town, a collection of the remnants of a boom and bust mining town. It will be hard to believe that the town had over 3,500 inhabitants at one time. After leaving Rhyolite we will stop at Hells Gate and you will get your first glimpse of Death Valley and its amazing geology. We will head to the Ranch at Death Valley, where we spend the next three nights. Overnight Ranch at Death Valley (B, L, D)

DAY 3 – March 7

This morning we hike the Golden Canyon-Gower Gulch Loop. This 4.5-mile loop trail first takes us through colorful Golden Canyon and then up and over a ridge, passing beneath Manley Beacon. (Named after William Manly who lead a group of ill-fated prospectors out of Death Valley during the 1849 Gold Rush.) The trail then drops into Gower Gulch, another canyon but with a completely different feel and footing than Golden Canyon. The loop ends with a traverse along the base of the cliffs (an alluvial fan) that rise abruptly from the flatter plain below. If you want some time on your own during this trip, the rest of the afternoon is free for you to do as you choose perhaps enjoying the thermally heated pool or visiting the Visitor's Center. Alternatively, we will head to the Harmony Borax Works to learn about borax mining in Death Valley. Lots of good choices! We will meet again in the late afternoon for a trip to Badwater Basin, the lowest point in North America. Overnight Oasis at Death Valley Ranch. (B, L, D).

DAY 4 – March 8

Death Valley is a huge park; a fact we will appreciate more fully after today. We'll begin our day a bit earlier to make sure we have time for everything! After driving an hour into the northern part of the Park, our first stop will be the 600-foot deep Ubehebe Crater, the remnants of a massive maar volcanic explosion 300 years ago. We will hike along the west rim of the Crater to Little Hebe, before continuing around the rim for a total of 1.5 miles. On the way back, we will have a desert picnic before visiting and stopping at the Salt Creek Interpretative Trail. An easy boardwalk takes us to the Creek, a stream of salty water that is the habitat for cold water pupfish, cousins of the Ash Meadows pup fish. Returning to the ranch before heading out to in the late afternoon for to the Mesquite sand dunes. The late afternoon setting sun adds to the beauty of the dunes. (B,L,D)

DAY 5 – March 9

The next day we load up for the drive to Joshua Tree National Park. It's a long drive (over 4 hours) but we will have an interesting stop along the way. We will say good bye to Death Valley from Zabrinski Point which overlooks the valley and one of our hiking trails. We will continue on to the Mojave National Preserve where we will stop in Kelso at the Kelso Depot Visitor Center and learn about the once thriving railroad depot. We will head to Joshua Tree National Park and stop by the Oasis of Mara visitor's center before heading into the park and our first hike. (B, L, D)

DAY 6 – March 10

Joshua Tree has a rich geological and human history. Designated as a national monument in 1936 and a national park in 1994. It straddles the California Mojave and Colorado deserts with their diverse ecosystems. It is home to the famous Joshua Tree and is the playground for climbers and hikers alike. The park is much higher and generally cooler than Death Valley. It ranges from 3,000 to 5,185ft above sea level. We will begin a full day in Joshua Tree National Park by hiking the Split Rock Trail and Skull Rock Trails. This approximately 3.5-mile diverse trail will take us through rock formations, sandy wash, and rolling desert landscapes. We will combine it with the Skull Rock trail to Skull Rock trail and visit this amazing rock formation. We head to the Hidden Valley area for our picnic lunch and a chance to explore the valley that was used to hide purloined cattle. After lunch we will hike to Barkers Dam Loop with its remnants of the human history of Joshua Tree. (B, L, D)

DAY 7 – March 11

Our visit to Joshua Tree has been quick but we do not want to leave without visiting the 49 Palms Oasis. The 3-mile trail ascends a 300 ft ridge before dropping back down to the desert oasis. Along the landscape is dotted with the barrel cacti and spring flowers (hopefully). We will stop for our picnic lunch at the oasis before returning on the same path. If energy and time permits, we will stop at the western section of the park for a hike in the Black Rock area. We sadly leave Joshua Tree National Park behind as we head to Palm Springs. We will spend our last night in Palm Springs CA.

DAY 8 – March 12

You are free to leave at any time today or stay and enjoy Palm Springs!!!!

ADDITIONAL TRIP INFORMATION

The hotel we are staying in (along with the majority of Las Vegas hotels) does not have a dedicated airport shuttle. There are continuous and inexpensive shuttle services available just outside the baggage claims area of the airport. Check out: <https://www.mccarran.com/Go/Shuttles.aspx> for a current list of airport shuttles. Please note that some shuttles service only those hotels located on the strip (which ours is not). Your trip cost includes transportation back to the Palm Springs airport on the last day of the trip. If you are driving, you should leave your car at the Las Vegas airport.
